ASIA, one of the four great divisions of the Globe, and, next to Europe, the most interesting. It comprehends all that lies between Europe and Africa on the west, and between the Continent of America on the east, and is only inferior in extent of surface to the latter. Some recent geographers, however, have proposed to restrict Asia within narrower limits, by detaching from it the southern islands of Papua, New Britain, New Caledonia, New Holland, and New Zealand, for the purpose of constituting a 5th division of the globe, under the name of Australasia.—1534. BIBLE. This article is necessarily divided into two great parts,—Bible, and Works regarding the Bible. These are again subdivided into more particular divisions. In the first, the editions of the Bible are arranged under the various languages in which they are written, distinguishing under minuter heads, whether they contain the whole Bible, or merely the Old or the New Testament separately. The second division, or that in which Works regarding the Scriptures are classed, is reduced under the particular heads on which these works are written,—such as, On the Authenticity of the Bible,—On the Philology of the Bible, &c.—— BIBLES IN FOUR LANGUAGES, AND IN MORE THAN FOUR LANGUAGES.—It may be proper to remark, that the word Bible is often understood to mean, in many instances throughout this article, the Old Testament alone.—1517. Biblia Sacra Polyglotta, complectentia vetus Testamentum Hebraico, Græco et Latino idiomate, Novum Testamentum Græcum et Latinum, et Vocabularium Hebraicum et Chaldaicum Veteris Testamenti, cum Grammaticâ Hebraicâ, necnon Dictionario Græco. Compluti de Brocario 1514-17, 6 vols. 989 i. This Bible has the Hebrew, Latin and Greek in three distinct columns, and the Chaldee Paraphrase and a Latin Interpretation at the bottom of the page. The margin is filled with the Hebrew and Chaldee radicals. Three copies were printed on vellum. This Polyglott is commonly styled the Complutensian, from the place where it was printed; and it is the first Bible which appeared in so many languages. Its merits stand high with all bibliographers, not only on account of its literary worth, but the beauty, and even splendour of its typographical execution.—1546. Pentateuchus Hebraio-Chaldaio-Persicus-Arabicus. Printed in three columns; the Hebrew Text in the middle; on the right hand the Persic Version of R. Jacob. fil. Joseph; and on the left the Chaldee Paraphrase of Onkelos; at the top is the Arabic Paraphrase of Sacidias; and at the bottom the Commentary of Rasbi, printed in Hebrew characters, with points.—1550. Biblia Sacra, Gr. Lat. Heb. et Chald. Lugd. ap. Gryph. 2 tom. fol.—1568. Biblia Sacra Polyglotta Philippi II. Hispaniarum Regis, jussu edita ac impressa; curâ Benedicti Ariæ Montani. Antverpiæ, Plautinus, 1559. 1572. 8 vols. fol. This work is printed in Hebrew, Greek, Latin and Chaldee, and contains also a Chaldee Paraphrase on part of the Old Testament. The New Testament has the Syriac Version, and the Latin Translation of Santes Pagninus, as reformed by Arias Montanus, and enriched with grammars and dictionaries of the various languages of which the Polyglott is composed. 365 a.—1599. Elias Hutterus published a Polyglott B. at Noremb. in six languages, the Hebrew, Chaldee, Greek and Latin; the fifth was the German Version of Luther; the sixth the Sclavonic Version of Wittemberg. Instead of the Sclavonic, some copies were printed with the French Version of Geneva, others the Italian, and others a Saxon Version from the German of Luther.—1628. Biblia Sacra Polyglotta, studio Guy Michælis Le Jay. Paris, apud Antonium Vitray, 1628, et ann. seqq. ad 1645, 10 vols. fol. maximo, formâ Atlanticâ. This work contains the whole of Ximenes and Plautinus, with the addition of the Syriac and Arabic Version; and the Samaritan Pentateuch was first printed in this Polyglott, from MSS.—1645. Biblia Hebraica, Samaritana, Chaldaica, Græca, Syriaca, Latina, Arabica: quibus Textus originales totius S. Sacræ, quorum pars in edit. Complut. deinde in Antwerp. Reg. extat, nunc integri ex MSS. exhibentur. Lut. Par. 10 vols. fol. This most laborious and magnificent Polyglott was the work of Guy Michæl Le Jay. 543 m.—1657. Biblia Sacra Polyglotta, complectentia (textus originales), Hebraicum cum Pentateucho, Samaritano, Chaldaicum, Græcum, (versionumque antiquarum), Samaritanæ Græcè LXX. Interpr. Chaldaicæ, Syria-

cæ, Arabicæ, Æthiopicæ, Persicæ, Vulg. Lat. Quicquid comparari poterat, cum Textum et Versionum Orientalium translationibus Latinis, ex vetustissimis MSS., undique conquistis, optimisque exemplaribus impressis, summâ fide collatis; quæ in prioribus editionibus deerant suppleta. Multa ante hac inedita de novo adjecta. Omnia eo ordine disposita, ut textus cum versionibus uno intuitu conferri possent; cum apparatu, appendicibus, tabulis variis, lectionibus, annotationibus, indicibus, &c. Edidit Brianus Waltonus, S. T. D. Londini, imprimebat Thomas Roycroft, 1657, 6 vols. fol. 947 g. Nine languages are used in this edition, yet there is no one book in the whole Bible printed in so many. It is enriched with prefaces, prolegomena, treatises on weights and measures, geographical charts, and chronological tables; and it also contains Dr. Edmund Castell's Lexicon, in two vols., a very necessary supplement to the work. This Polyglott was published by subscription, and was the first book ever printed in that manner in England. It is chiefly grounded upon the Paris edition of Le Jay, to which it is much inferior in typographical execution, though more useful on account of its superior accuracy, and the improvements which it was enabled to make upon the former work.—1750. Biblia Sacra Quadrilingua Veteris Testamenti Hebraici, cum Versionibus e regione positis, utpote vers. Græc. LXX. interpret. ex codic. Manuscripto Alexandrino, a J. Ern. Grabio primum evulgata. Item Versione Latina Sebast. Schmidii, noviter revisa, et textui Hebræo notis Masorethicis et Græcæ versioni lectionibus, codicis Vaticani, notis philologicis et exegeticis aliis, ut et summariis capitum ac locis parallelis locupletissimis ornata, accurante M. Christ. Reineccio. Lips. 3 vols. fol. An excellent and useful work, edited with great care and accuracy.——N. D.—Biblia Sacra Polyglotta, Textus Archetypos versionesque præcipuas, ab Ecclesia Antiquitus complectentia. Hæc editio textum Hebræum Pentateuchum-Hebræo-Samaritanum Versionum LXX. Senioram Græcam Vulgatam Latinorum Editionum Novum Testamentum Græce celebrem illam Syrorum Novi Testamenti versionem quam Peschito nuncupant et versionem Anglicam exhibet. 62 u. —— New Testament.—1569. Testamentum Novum, Græce, Latine, et Syriace, studio Immanuelis Tremellii, qui et calci adjecit Grammaticam Chaldæam et Syram. Paris, apud H. Stephens, fol. The Syriac version is printed with Hebrew types. There is a Chaldee and Syriac grammar annexed.—1599. Testamentum Novum, Syriace, Ebraice, Græce, Latine, Germanice, Bohemice, Italice, Hispanice, Gallice, Anglice, Danice, Polonice, cura Eliæ Hutteri. Norib. 2 tom. fol. 550 i.—1602. Novum Testamentum, Ebraice, Græce, Latine, et Germanice, ab Elia Huttero editum. Norimb. 4to.——BIBLES in THREE LANGUAGES.—1586. Sacra Biblia, Hebraice, Græce et Latine, cum Annotationibus Francisci Vatabli, Latina interpretatio duplex est, altera vetus, altera nova. Ex Officina Sanctandreana, 3 vols. fol. With an altered title, Ex Officina Commeliniana, 1599; and again 1616. This work is generally termed Vatable's Bible, because his notes are attached to it. But the merit of the work belongs solely to Cornelius Bonaventure Bertram, Professor of Hebrew at Geneva, Frankendal and Lausanne.—1596. Biblia Hebraice, Gr. et Lat., cum Annot. Vatabli et Montani Commelin. 2 tom.—1596. Biblia, Gr. Lat. Germ. Hamb. a Jacobo Lucio, 4 vols. fol. Studio Davidis Wolderi; the Greek from the Venice edition of 1518; the Latin versions are those of St. Jerome and Pagninus.—1606. Biblia Sacra, Heb. Gr. et Lat. Commelin, 1606, 8 vols. fol. This Bible contains the Hebrew text; the Greek septuagint from the Bible of Alcala or Complutum by Card. Ximenes; the Latin translation of Pagnini from R. Stephens and the Vulgate. — 1635. Bibl. Hebr. Charactere, apud Germanos Judæos Vulgari, cum Lat. planeque nova Seb. Munsteri translatione, adjectis e Rabbinorum commentariis, annot. Bas. ap. Babelianam, 2 vols. fol.—1753. Biblia Hebraica, cum Notis Criticis, et versione Latina ad Notas Criticas facta; accedunt libri Græci qui vocantur Deutero-Canonici. This is a most valuable work to the biblical critic; it contains the Hebrew text, corrected and reformed, from ancient editions of the Bible and MSS.; a Latin version, which is allowed to be clear, elegant and energetic; and useful and judicious notes. Prefixed to each book is a learned and concise preface. The Critical Notes and Prolegomena were republished, without the Hebrew text or Latin version. 518 z.——Old Testament.—1547. Pentateuchus Hebraicus Hispanicus et Barbaro-Græcus. Printed in three columns, the Hebrew text in the middle, the old Spanish version on the right, and on the left the modern Greek used by the Caraïtes of Constantinople, at the head and bottom of the page are the Targum and the Commentary, as in former editions.—— New Testament.—1571. Novum Testamentum, Syr. Gr. et Lat. Antw. Plantin. This forms the fifth volume of the Antwerp Polyglott mentioned before.—1571. Nov. Test. Gr. Lat. et Syr. Lugd. fol.—1584. Nov. Test. a G. Fabricio, Heb. Gr. et Lat. Paris, apud Joan. Benenatum, 1584, 4to. The Syriac text of this work is in Chaldee Letters, without any points. It is now rather curious and scarce.—1614. Nov. Test. Gr. Lat. Germanicæ, pars prima, &c. Studio Eilhardi Lubini. Rostochii, apud Joach. Pedanum, 4to.—1616. Nov. Test. interlinearis sive parallelæ, qua ad nobilissimam linguarum Græcam, &c. Studio, cura et impensis Eilhardi Lubini. Rost. 1616, 4to. The different texts in this work are interlined; first the Greek, next the Vulgate, and Luther's German version. The title-page appears to have been altered in several instances, as an artifice, no doubt, to get the impression sold. It may be found with, Amst. Jo. Jansson, 1614: apud Joan. Hallerfordium, 1617: and Rost. August. Ferber, 1626.—1748. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. (Vulg. edit.) et Germanicè, cura Reinecceii. Lips. fol.——FRENCH, and DUTCH BIBLE. —1631. Nov. Test. Gallo-Belg. Amst. 8vo.——GREEK NEW TESTAMENT, with the ENGLISH VERSION.—Nov. Test. Gr. et Ang., in which, 1. The Greek Text is amended according to the best and most ancient readings; 2. The common English Translation rendered more agreeable to the original; 3. A Paraphrase, explaining the difficult expressions, design of the sacred writers; short Annotations, &c.; with Notes by Edward Wells, D.D. Oxon. 4to., published in different parts, from 1709 to 1719. A very useful work. — 1729. The N. T. in Greek and English; containing the original text, corrected from the authority of the most authentic MSS., and a new version, with notes and various readings, by Mace, or Macey. Lond. 8vo. This is a work of little judgment, the Greek text being often much perverted. The Greek is printed with a peculiar kind of type; the English is in a collateral column, in italics.—— NEW GREEK TESTAMENT, with the GERMAN VERSION. —1755. Nov. Test. Gr. et Ger. Hal. 12mo.——GREEK and LATIN BIBLE, being the Septuagint Translation of the Old Testament, with the Greek Version of the New Testament, and Latin Translations of both.—1628. LXX. Interpret. Græcè et Latinè, cum Nov. Test. Græc. et Lat. opera et studio Joannis Morim. Paris, Anton. Steph. 3 vols. fol. The title-page of this edition has been reprinted with, Paris, Piget, 1641. This is all the alteration.——GREEK and LATIN OLD TESTAMENT.—1550. Septuaginta Gr. et Lat., by Brylinger. Bas. 4 vols. 8vo. — 1587. Vetus Testamentum Græcum, juxta LXX. Interpret. studio Antonii Cardinalis Carafæ, ope doctorum virorum adjuti, cum Præfatione et Scholiis Petri Morini. Rom. apud Zanettum, 1587, fol. A Latin translation of the above was published at Rome in 1588; and these two joined form the following edition of the whole Bible in Greek and Latin, published in 1628, only that the last-mentioned work is much more valuable, from the addition of many learned and useful notes. Most of the Septuagint versions which have appeared in England have been taken from these editions.——GREEK NEW TESTAMENT, with the LATIN VERSION.—1514. Novum Testamentum, Græcè et Latinè, in Academia Complutensi noviter impressum. The Colophon is as follows: Ad perpetuam laudem et gloriam Dei, et Domini nostri Jesu Christi, hoc sacrosanctum opus Novi Testamenti; et libri vite. grecis laninisque characteribus noviter impressum, atque studiosissime emendatum, felice fine absolutum est. In hac preclarissima Complutensi Universitate de mandato et sumptibus reverendissimi in Christo patris et illustrissimi Dñi fratris Francisci Ximenez, de Cisneros, &c. &c., industria et solertia honorabilis viri Arnaldi Guilielmi de Brocario artis impressorie magistri. Anno Domini millesimo quingentesimo decimo quarto mensis Januarii die decimo, 1514. The characters seem to have been cut in imitation of those found in MSS., and are probably taken from some MS. This forms one of the volumes of the Complutensian edit., q. v. under Bible in four, or more than four languages.—1516. Novum Testamentum, a Desiderio Erasmo, Gr. et Lat. Bas. Frob. 1516. Edit. princ. Basil, 1519, and 1522. The Complutensian edition appearing in 1522, rather eclipsed the editions of Erasmus which had been published before it, on account of which Erasmus corrected his former editions according to that of Complutum, and published his improved version in 1527. — 1535. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. per Erasmum. Bas. apud Frob. et N. Episcopium, 1535 and in 1555, fol. — 1541. N. Testamentum, Græce, cum intrepretatione duplici altera vulgatæ editionis, altera D. Erasmi, editio 5ta. Basil, apud Froben.—1541. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. Bas. Brylingerus et Franchius. Often reprinted. — 1543. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. Par. Bogart. 1543, 8vo. Instead of Bogart, some copies have Carola Guillart.—1551. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. Paris, Rob. Steph. 16to. The first edition of the Bible which is divided into verses. It is said that this important improvement was made by Stephens in the course of a journey from Paris to Lions; as frequently as he stopped to refresh his horse, he employed these intervals in preparing this edition for the press. — 1559. Nov. Test. a Theodoro Beza, Gr. et Lat. 8vo. sine nota, et Basil, 1559, fol. et H. Steph. 1556 et 1565. Genev. H. Steph. 1582. Hen. Steph. 1589, et Cantabr. 1612. This last is the best edit. of Beza's Testament.—1569. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. cum Versione Syriaca Hebræis typis descripta, et Lat. interpret. a Tremellio. Par. H. Steph. 1569. With a Chaldee and Syriac Grammar, and a dedication to Queen Elizabeth. A very splendid edition. —1570. Nov. Test. Gr. et Lat. per Erasmum, cum Glossa Illyrici. Bas. fol.—1582. Nov. Test. BIBLIOGRAPHY, or the Science of Books. To prevent confusion in the arrangement of so comprehensive and diffused a subject as the present, it is subdivided as minutely as the nature of such a work will allow. Works treating of Bibliography in general form one division. Works which refer only to the Bibliography of particular subjects will be classed under these subjects, as in the instance of Theological Bibliography. Bibliothecæ, Catalogues of Libraries, Lists of Books, &c. will necessarily form another class. And references to the first part of this work to interesting Bibliographical Notices, principally of early printed books, will form the last division of this article. An extensive branch of Bibliography will be found under the head Typography.—1473. Philobiblion, de Amore Librorum. 176 p.—1512. Tractatus Expositorius super Libros posteriorum. 839 k.—1531. This Work, along with the Bibliographical Romance, the Typographical Antiquities, and the Bibliotheca Spenceriana of the same Author, are almost unrivalled amongst Works on Bibliography. They are complete specimens of the excellency to which the art they treat of has attained, and the bibliographical spirit which they display has certainly been rarely equalled in works of a similar nature. All of them are now extremely scarce and dear, and will soon be as vainly sought after by the bibliographical student, as the rarest and most valuable works which they describe. —1820.
